

Lost Pig* role signup

If you're interested in volunteering to either read the story aloud or enter commands while we play Lost Pig in class today, please put your name in one or both spots below. (If you want to just follow along and suggest commands as we go, that's fine too; just pass this sheet along, either way.)

Readers read the game's output text out loud. The ability to put on a good Orc voice is strictly optional.

Interactors take control of the keyboard, entering the text commands that tell Grunk what to do next, paying mind to suggestions from the class.
